In this pitch-perfect middle grade adventure, twelve-year-old Dagmar must endure a summer living off-the-grid with her family in a tiny home.

"Graff's signature, over-the-top plotting builds to a thrilling climax. The whimsically drawn characters are good company, especially resourceful Dagmar, a droll tour guide whose tart commentary is a highlight. This smart, hilarious mashup of off-the-grid minimalism and smart-home consumerism adds up to a quirky treat." —Kirkus Reviews

Twin brothers discover their new home is also a portal—for an hour a day—to a parallel dimension in this rollicking middle-grade adventure, perfect for fans of The Mysterious Benedict Society

"Exciting action, a creepy curse and well-drawn characters make for supremely cozy reading on a cold winter's night." —Chicago Tribune

This funny, fantastical story will resonate with any reader who's ever wished a little adventure will find them.

"Graff neatly contains his wacky plot within narrator Brian's Everykid voice, unspooling the looniness with transparent glee. Fast-paced, anarchic fun for reluctant and avid readers alike." —Kirkus Reviews
